I. INTRODUCTION

A best advertisement should have certain attributes. First, it should be based on human-psychology. A product meant for women, should be sensitively advertised because women are more sensitive in buying the product. If men are to be customers, then it should appeal to their tastes. For children according to kids mind set. Goods for different demographic profile should be advertised, taking into consideration their purchasing power. A luxury car is the main for the rich. Its advertisement must reach the mentality of the rich. A comfortable two wheeler should be advertised in such a way that ordinary man with minimum income should feel the economic advantages of the investment of his money on it.

Secondly, advertisements should be attractive. This is very crucial. People look at the advertisement which is eye-catching. Good image, pictures, audio and video are very much effective form this point of view. Proper holiness must be maintained and unnecessary exposure must be avoided. It must also be frequently repeated, otherwise people forget all about the goods advertised. To get success in business every big or small business-concern must make effective use of art of advertising goods.

In this era of technology, creative and innovative products are produced every day. Market is created for these products through advertisement. Businessmen advertise their products in various modes and thus widen knowledge of their products to the customers. To run a business without its aid is not possible in the modern age. It is through advertisement that people feel a need for those goods neither they had never heard before nor wanted. Advertisement creates demand. It is the backbone of every Industry. In turn it generates a national income to the country. Advertisement is not only through TV, Radio, Magazines, Newspapers etc. But even a good packaging, attractive logo and slogan, best sales promotional techniques all will facilitate in building a brand image of their products in the minds of the consumers.
